LATE GENERAL NEWS.

The hospitalities extended to Gen. Grant at San Francisco are unremitting. The city has addressed him by resolution. Excursions, visits, receptions and reviews succeed each other every day. There is talk of an excursion to Yosemite Valley, Los Angeles, Oregon and other places.

The President and party are beyond the Missouri in Kansas, and receiving courtesies everywhere from officials and citizens.

Deadwood, Dakota, has been nearly consumed by fire. The loss is estimated at $1,500 000 or $2,000,000.

The Democrats of Minnesota have nominated for Governor Edmund Rice, and E. P. Bernum for Lieut. Governor.

There is no telling when the Afghan war will end.

The ex-Confederate officers and soldiers, now citizens of San Francisco, joined cordially in the reception of Gen. Grant. Their congratulations were tendered in such graceful and generous terms as these:

Resolved, That we, the ex-soldiers and sailors of the late Confederate army and navy, resident upon the Pacific coast, congratulate General U. S. Grant upon this happy ending of his distinguished tour, and, in common with our fellow citizens, disclaiming all political significance and affiliations, do tender him as a citizen of the Republic a most hearty welcome home.

Resolved, That we take pleasure in testifying to General Grant our appreciation of his soldier-like dictation of terms of surrender at Appomattox, his personal insistance upon their being observed by the United States government in all liberality, and his individual kindness, generosity and magnanimity to those lately in arms against him.

At the term of the U. S. Court for the Western District of South Carolina, 33 persons were found guilty of violating the revenue law. But one of the juries, drawn under the new law, and living among the offenders in the mountains, cleared nearly all who came before them.

The conference between Prince Bismarck and Count Andrassy has resulted in an agreement that the German and Austrian interests in all pending European questions are identical, and that the condition of Europe is such as will leave no doubt that the two empires will be able to assert their interests peaceably.

Benevolent old Peter Cooper has decided to put on the Cooper Union another story and a dome, for the use of the Inventor's Institute, which he founded, and which is now located at 711 Broadway. He pays all the expenses himself. These lofty rooms will be devoted to the offices of the Institute, its museum, library, and all the appliances for the study of inventions and the making of models.

Only two men have been hanged by law in Kentucky in 10 years. Twenty armed men have taken it at random over the state. There were in them 717 indictments for homicides, in five years, and three lifetime sentences, and one for capital punishment. In Breathitt county, 800 persons out of a voting population of 1,000, are under indictment for crime; in Clay county, 530 out of 1,600; in Jackson, 154 out of 799. Ten counties, with a voting population of 11,584, have 2,846 persons under indictment at a single term—over 24 per cent.

Senor de Gary, the Mexican delegate to the Paris Congress to consider the subject of the inter oceanic canal, has made a speech in New York in which he exposed M. Lesseps' schemes—Senor de Gary supports the Tehuantepec route.

The yellow fever is rapidly dying out, only six cases on Friday, and three deaths.

From the annual report of Hon. John Eaton, Commissioner of Education for the United States, for the year 1877, we gather the following facts relating to North Carolina: Number of youth of school age (6 to 21) in the state 408,296; number enrolled in public schools 201,458; average actual attendance 104,178; school districts for whites, 3,852, the same for colored 1866; whole number of school teachers examined, 2,382; whole receipts for public schools, $406,447; average pay to teachers, $20 to $30 per month.

Major Abbott, of the Engineer Corps, has been interviewed by the Herald on the subject of torpedoes for coast defence. Among the things he says are: that the torpedoes can be exploded 15 miles away; that by building bomb proof sufficiently strong the machines can be set up in any of the present forts; that their operation requires a service of special training, the minium number of which should be at least 520 men; that the torpedoes can be so constructed as to resist explosion from outside; and that their present use is limited on account of their not being able to make only 8 knots per hour, while an iron clad can make 17 knots an hour.

There are 496,286 natives of the old slave states living in the old free states, without taking in Maryland or Delaware. Among these emigrants are Hon. Geo. W. McCrary, the Secretary of War, and Hon. Allen G. Thurman of Ohio.

The Florida Central and the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile railroads, the two extending to the Chattahooche river have been under a decree of the United States Circuit court and were bid off by C. D. Williard, Esq., attorney for Adolph Engler, trustee. The Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile road was sold for $50.0000, subject to a prior lien of about $800.000. The Florida Central road sold for $395.000. Both roads were purchased for bondholders, and it is understood that a new company will be organized to operate the roads.

Bismarck has had an interview with the Austrian authorities in the interests of a permanent peace between the two nations, and an alliance. The proposition is that both nations so far disarm as to admit of reduced taxation.

The State Republican Committee of Massachusetts have issued an address to the people saying that the contest is, to a large extent, a personal contest between the followers of Gen. Butler and those who oppose him, and the only political forces in the field that need be counted are the Republican party on one side and a combination of incongruous elements, organized and commanded by Gen. Butler, on the other.

Mr. Evarts earnestly supports the Republican ticket in New York, and will make some speeches during the canvass.

In West Virginia a colored man kills a white man, the colored man is hung by a mob, and while hanging is shot; after he is dead is taken down and completely cut to pieces—his legs and arms cut from his body. In North Carolina, Walker, a white man, brutally murders Bell, a colored man, the white man, Walker, is brought before a Magistrate and released on a straw bond of $500. What a contrast.

New Way to Treat Diptheria

A Minnesota corresponent of the Salem (Mass.) Gazette, says:

Quite a discovery in the treatment of diptheria has been made here. A young man whose arm had been amputated was attacked by diptheria before healing took place; and instead of the matter incident to that disease being deposited in the throat, the greater portion appeared on the wounded arm, and the diptheria was very light and easily managed Dr. Davis, of Mankato, profited by this, and his next case of diptheria blistered his patient's breast, and on this blistered part the chief deposit appeared. This was an easy case of disease The theory of Dr. Davis is that diptheria usually appears in the throat. Hence when the blister breaks the skin upon any other part of the body, the disease appears there.

The reported capture in South Africa, of the Zulu king Cetywayo, August 29th is announced by telegraph dispatch from Capetown.

NOTICE.

Our correspondents must curtail their productions. Let them cultivate brevity, and confine themselves to their subject. Don't wander. Write only on one side of the paper. This advice is given because we are obliged to throw many good articles into the scrap basket on account of length. Within certain restrictions our columns are open to the whole world. Be short, incisive and pointed. This advice is not meant for some of our very excellent contributors, who are models.

City subscribers, who desire the POST must settle with our carrier when he calls on them. We only charge one dollar a year. All can pay that amount, and those who do not, and will not, cannot have the POST. Every man should have the Republican news, and they can only get reliable information through a Republican paper.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

We will give a TWENTY DOLLAR GOLD PIECE to the person who sends us the largest number of paying Subscribers within the next three months or by the 15th day of October, 1879.

The eve of attonement, known as the most sacred day of the year, in the Jewish calendar, was devotedly observed by appropriate services in the Temple of Israel of this city on 26last.

Gen. Robert C. Schenck has been very ill at North Bennington Vt., and for many days his death was hourly expected. He is, however, reported as improving and likely to recover.

Col. A. W. Shaffer was in the city several days last week looking exceedingly well, and was bragging, as usual, on the fine looks of the three young Shaffer's. We are exceedingly glad the world has dealt so well with the Colonel. He is one of the most substantial financial men of this state.

N. C. MEDICAL JOURNAL.—The September number of this most creditable Medical Monthly conducted by Drs. Wood and De Rossett, is upon our table. It has 67 pages of reading matter, embracing original articles, clinical reports, selected, current literature, reviews and book notices &c. It is full of Scientific information on medical matters.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—The Board of County Commissioners recently passed an important order relative to Poll Tax, for 1879, to the effect that all who failed to list their Poll Tax, for 1879, be allowed the privilege of having the double tax remitted (and avoid other expenses), provided the Poll is paid to the Sheriff berore the 1st day of November 1879.

Col. O. H. Blocker is doing great service for the government in the Revenue Department; he has made several important seizures lately. There is not a better officer in the service of the government—an honest, faithful and hard working servant. He studies the interest of the government just as much as if it was his own private business, which we cannot say for all the Internal Revenue officers in North Carolina.

There have been several statements put forth showing the economical administration of the county government since the Democrats took charge. In scaling down the individual claims of Republican claimants, they cut them down $734.92, while of the Democratic claims they cut down only $178.27. Was this an accident, or was it done by design. Let these things be enquired into

HISTORICAL AND SCIENTIFIC SOCIETY.—Rev. Rabbi Mendelssohn of the Temple of Israel, in this city, will deliver a Lecture on Monday evening, 29th inst, before the Historical and Scientific Society on "Hebrew Jurisprudence and Proceedure in Court." The well known ability and literary acquirements of the distinguished speaker will doubtedly attract a large audience on the occasion. An invation having been extended to the public.

SERIOUS CHARGE.—Dick Mathis, colored charged with wrecking a train on the Wilmington and Weldon Rail Road in the vicinity of Rocky Point, Pender county has been recently recaptured, in Onslow county, where he was discovered by the vigilance of Sheriff Paddison Mathis, is now confined in Jail, this in county, and will be held for safe keeping the next term of Pender Supreme Court.

BORN.—On Wednesday last Mr. Joseph Worth was presented by Mrs. Gracie Worth wiih a fine daughter.

HAPPY AT LAST.—It would be useless for us to inform our readers that Col. E. R. Brink, our worthy Postmaster, was happy, very happy, if they knew he had some one to call him grandpapa. He says it is Worth a million dollars. For the past three days the Colonel has done nothing but go around singing,

I am at last exceedingly happy.

Mr. R. Bell, the popular agent of the Portner lager beer establishment, in this state, we are sorry to learn, has resigned and will leave by 21 Eakright about the middle of next week. Mr. Bell has made many friends since he has been located here, by his uniform gentlemanly conduct, who will be sorry to part with him. We wish Mr. Bell long life and prosperity, for he very richly deserves it.

LUDICROUS POSITION OF A DEACON.—During the lecture of Messrs. Dancy and Price at St. Luke's Church on Tuesday evening, the 16th instant, there was quite an interesting episode witnessed. An enthusiastic member of the audience (who by the way is a Deacon) would at frequent intervals manifest his appreciation and emotion by loud and earnest exclamations, such as: "Amen!" "That's so!" "Yes! yes!" etc., etc. While the Rev. J. C. Price was making one of his most eloquent appeals in behalf of the temperance cause, after showing the evil effects and immorality of intemperance, he asked: "Shall we banish the hydra-headed monster of intemperance from our midst?" Clapping his hands together and almost rising from his seat, this enthusiastic auditor loudly exclaimed, "No, my Lord, no!"

PRINCETON REVIEW.—The number for September opens with an article upon the "Progress of Christianity in the United States," by Dr. Philip Schaff of the Union Theological Seminary. It is a very readable and interesting production. The article on "Painting and its Historic Relations is entertaining. Then follow two heavy articles on "Religion and Morality" and the "Problem of the Human Will." The last article treats of the relations Virgil to Christianity, or rather treats him as the "precurser" of the faith. Virgil was born 70 years before Christ and died 19 years before He appeared on earth. But he had garnered within himself the best philosophies of his time, somewhat nearly akin those of Him whom he was never to see. This grand old Review is well flavored with the best scholarship, but not so heavily freighted with learning that it cannot be understood by any but scholars

A CYCLOPEDIA FOR $10.00.—Perhaps the most remarkable enterprise of the time, is in the publication of the Library of Universal Knowledge, in 20 volumes of nearly 1,000 pages each, handsomely bound for 50 cents per volume, or $10.00 for the set. It is a reprint entire of the last (1879) Edinburg and London edition of Chambers' Encylopedia. A Dictionary of Universal Knowledge for the people, with very large additions upon topics of special interest to American readers. The amount of matter will somewhat exceed that of the Cylopedias of Appleton or Johnson, though the price is but a fraction of their cost. Volume one is to be ready early in September, and the others will follow at very short intervals. The remarkably low prices are accounted for by the method of sale, to the subscribers direct, saving them the large commerce, often 50 or 60 per cent., paid to agents or dealers also, by the recent great reduction in the cost of making books, and by making very large sales. This certainly is a work that the millions will appreciate Special inducements are offered to early subscribers and to clubs.

The same publishers have recently issued editions of Chambers' Cylopedia of English Literature, 4 vols, $2.00 formerly sold in 2 vols., $9.00; also Rollins Ancient History, and Josephus' Works, large type editions, for $2.50 and $2.00, and Smith's Bible Dictionary, $1.00

They also publish, in August and September, the Acme Library of Biography, 12 vols., and the Acme Library of Modern Classics, 9 vols, the former at 35 cents and the latter at 50 cents per vol. In these series are presented such authors as Carlyle, Macaulay, Gibbon, Goldsmith, Lamartine, Michelet, Thomas Moore, Walter Scott, and Fouque, and such subjects as Cesar, Cromwell, Burns, Joan of Arc, Vicar of Wakefield, Picciola, Lalh Rookh, &c., Full catalogue of publications terms to clubs &c., will be sent free on request by the publishers, the American Book Exchange, 55 Beekma St., N. Y.

We stood at an open window
Leaning far over the sill,
And if something hadn't happened
We might have stood there still;
But we reached for a banging shutter
In a blinding northeast breeze,
So our friends will have to be invited
To join in the obsequies.

IF WE COULD ONLY HAVE KNOWN what a storm was brewing (in a teapot), and how far off that shutter was, we should never have ventured our head outside of that window; but it is too late for regrets now; we are nonplussed, completely squelched, have been sat upon, and our friends and the public generally are respectfully invited to attend the obsequies on and we stake our reputation on its being the grandest funeral they ever witnessed.

As he slips he slides, and every time he slides he slips up most woefully. We leave our "kind friends" to find out the meaning of the above, and while they are doing so we will ask the following questions:

Havn't we the ugliest and dirtiest store in the State?

Havn't we the poorest stock of goods in Wilmington?

Havn't we made prices much highe since we commenced?

Havn't we been very unaccommodating and impolite to you?

Havn't we charged you for all he goods delivered?

Havn't we made a great many mistakes and refused to correct them when our attention was called thereto?

All of our friends who answer "yes" to the above questions will please not buy from us any more. Respectfully and truly,

P. L. BRIDGERS & CO.

In glancing over last Sunday's paper we regretted to notice the tacit acknowledgment from some of our brother grocers that we had taken away part of their trade, and making an appeal to them to leave them. We regret this exceedingly, especially as they were so kind and considerate about our coming to grief, but suppose, as we have determined to do the

NOT PURITANICA

Although opposed to the drinking of Liquors, P. L. BRIDGERS & CO. are not puritanical enough to refuse to sell them, as they think no FIRST CLASS GROCERY STORE can afford to be without; but they promise the ladies that they would never find out there was any on the premises, as it must be taken elsewhere to be drunk.

THE WILMINGTON POST.

W. P. CANADAY, Ed'r & Prop'r.

WILMINGTON, N. C.,

SUNDAY MORNING, SEPT. 28, 1879.

The recent affairs in Yazoo and Kemper counties, Mississippi, must certainly induce northern capital and people to settle in the south. It is so desirable for persons who have a little regard to personal rights, that they will undoubtedly settle south so that they can enjoy the society of the Barksdales and Gullys.

Gen. Chalmers of Mississippi is out with a letter to the effect that it was not proved that Gully killed Miss Cornelia Chisholm. His reasoning is of a piece with that sophistry common among the Bourbons, by which they constantly attempt to prove impossibilities. Chalmers is one of those fellows who does not believe that any U. S. soldiers were slaughtered after they surrendered at Fort Pillow. There is no doubt that Cornelia Chisholm was shot so that she died, and shot by somebody who aimed his gun with the well defined purpose of killing Judge Chisholm. It is not necessary to tell any lawyer that whoever killed Cornelia was as much a murderer as the one who killed her father, although he killed her in shooting at her father. It is evident that no testimony can be presented to any jury summoned in Kemper that Judge Chisholm was murdered at all.

Post Master-General Key, having turned out one of those officials in Blackville, S. C., the Post Master, who was indulging in such amusement as insulting Republicans and suppressing their mail matter; and having appointed a man named Nix in the place of the person removed; and one of those loyal Americans about there, who especially worships the Constitution, having shot in the back this new Post Master, Mr. Key has sent down a special agent of his department with orders to close up that particular Postoffice, and to inquire into the whole subject. Albeit Mr. Key is punishing a whole community, some of whom may be innocent, we commend him for it, because we believe that any community which will tolerate inside it any coward, who goes around shooting people in the back, ought to be deprived of all mail facilities.

Mr. Harris, the Raleigh correspondent of the N. Y. Times, relates all about the Jarvis-Manning misunderstanding. He says that Gov. Jarvis is managed by Ham. Jones, Strudwick, and the rest of the kuklux ring. Manning was an old Union man, didn't think enough of the war to fight, had at one time a notion of acting with the Republicans, had helped to defeat Vance for the Senate, but, had supported Jarvis for Lt. Governor against Gen. Cox. And so Jarvis offered him the Judgeship. Senator Vance hearing of it protested against Manning's appointment, as being his enemy. So Jarvis appointed Gilmer, and began to tickle the fancy of Manning by intimidating to him that one of the Justices of the Supreme Court might die or resign sometime, and * * * * * * * * * Manning thought a bird in hand was worth two in the bush.

It is rapidly becoming painfully evident that saints are not of necessity bred out of the doctrine of state rights. It has already become apparent that men who are thoroughly imbued with the theories of secession are as capable of stealing as "carpet baggers and scalawags." This is especially evideneed by the aptitude which nearly all the state officials of Georgia have exhibited in the arts of peculation. So general has become the belief of these facts, that it has quite gone out of fashion to attack "carpet-baggers and scalawags," and come quite in fashion to arraign some of "our own people," who were put in office on account of their immaculate and saintly qualities. These chivalric aberrations extend from the ancient burghs of Virginia, where there has been shown not the least capacity to administer the affairs of the state, even down to the filthy slums of Louisiana. Even those specially elect, those chosen people, so long fanned by the broad branches of the palmetto into lives of ethereal purity, have been found able to steal and lie. In short that millennial condition which was foretold for the south, has not been realized.

PLAIN TRUTHS

To those of us who have watched the current of political affairs in the south since the war, and who are not likely to misapprehend the course which events are taking, it cannot be concealed that while southern Democratic politics are the same in kind as they were in 1861, there are some new features appearing. History has never known greater or more egregious blunders than the southern Bourbon managers have crowded within the space between the surrender at Appomattox and the present time. Defeated before the tribunal of force to which they of their own accord had appealed, utterly prostrated and powerless at the feet of their captors, their doctrines, their purposes, their theories all repudiated, they directly began to assume airs, to claim privileges and rights which they had forfeited, to enter upon a course of unreasonable complaint against every act of the government, and to indulge in indecent grumblings and recriminations. The Democratic managers of the south so far failed to appreciate the position in which the war had left them, that even while the last reverberations of war were echoing and the mild measures of the government were apparent, they broke out in complaints that military law was maintained over a conquered country, and rejected indignantly the leniency submitted to them, until when the reconstruction acts fell before them like the last inexorable leaves of the Sybil, they broke out into ravings and railings as indecent as they were injudicious.

Then by a course of barbarous excesses, such as will forever leave its black stain upon this region, by outrages, by violations of law, and by foul murders, they acquired the power which they now hold in these states. Being placed in power in the south by such means, they practically control the legislation of both Houses of Congress because they control the Democratic caucusses.

Being surrounded by new responsibilities, and even embarrassed by them, they feel the necessity of putting themselves upon their good behavior, and of approbating themselves somewhat to the American people. It is true that they seem to have a consciousness that their hold on even their present power will be short unless they can get rid of the odium which they have incurred in acquiring that power. But when in their reeking garments they try to put on the airs of respectability they find their way obstructed. They have the followers who aided them in their recent dirty and infamous work to deal with. They are between two fires—the decent and respectable Democrats of the north and the south and the depraved wretches to whom they are indebted for their power and position. If all the red-shirts, shot-guns, kuklux, bulldozers, and tissue-voters, and other rascals, would die at once, the Democratic party of the south would be far more comfortable. They are now like some men who have got rich by some disreputable means, and then try to get admitted into good society.

It is to no purpose that Lamar, or Hampton, or Hill or Morgan try to make themselves respectable when everybody is thinking of the frauds and crimes by which they were elected, and who are still their present backers. It is to no purpose that they are well mannered at Washington while they go home and shake hands with Barksdale and all the Gullys.

We are aware that very few people will speak as plainly as we are now speaking. But they know that we are stating the truth. No man, nor number of men, nor a population, ever commit crimes, and remain ignorant of the fact. If we have made ourselves intelligible our readers will by this time have understood what we meant at the beginning of this article by saying that certain new features are appearing in southern Democratic politics. After subverting by force and fraud the rights of majorities in every southern state, they are trying to approbate themselves to northern Democrats and northern people, and carry one or two states in the next Presidential election. Hypocrisy, sophistry, and falsehood are always large elements in Democratic politics, and it is growing larger and larger. The Democrats are getting ready to carry the country in 1880 by pretending to be what they are not, and undertaking to hold what they have obtained by crime, and gain more.

GEN. GRANT'S ARRIVAL.

On the 21st inst., the steamer bearing General Grant and party, arrived off the headlands of the Golden Gate, and was met by a fleet of vessels sent out from San Francisco and escorted up the harbor. On disembarking Gen. Grant was tendered the hospitalities of the city by the Mayor and committees, and escorted to the Palace Hotel. The procession which escorted him was immense and magnificent, and he rode to his hotel through the most profuse and gorgeous decorations, between thousands upon thousands of enthusiastic people, amid plaudits which rent the air, and beneath triumphal arches such as had never welcomed Cæsar to Rome, nor Wellington after Waterloo nor Napoleon from Austerlitz. All the bells of the city were pealing, the whistles of the steamers were blowing, and the air was filled with hurrahs of welcome from the vast multitude and from the brazen lip of artillery. No American and no foreign conqueror ever had received, returning from conquest and victories, such greeting as was awarded to this former chief of our armies and President, who had stepped on his native shores from his long journey of peace, laden with decorations from great municipalities, from empires and from kings.

The information, published in our last issue, concerning the murderer, Buck Walker, was from Republicans whom we know to be reliable gentlemen and those who would do no one an injustice knowingly, and their opinions have not been changed about this outrageous affair. Many say the PUNT was not severe enough.

FOREIGN TRADE.

Mr. Charles A. Wetmore of San Francisco was a delegate to the Paris Exposition from the California State Vinicultural Society. Col. Wetmore will be recollected by some persons in this city, as the gentleman who read the late Senator Morton's address on Decoration at the National Cemetery three years ago. The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce are publishing Col. Wetmore's letters from Paris on different subjects, giving the results of his observations abroad. His statements are so striking, and so strongly appeal to the pride and interest of Americans that we cannot forbear taking some extracts from them. Speaking of the difference between the policy of the French and Americans in matters of trade and intercourse, he uses the following startling language;

Americans need a little of the French conceit to make their own goods fashionable. The French refuse everything that is not French, except raw materials, and a few articles which they do not produce and must have. The French refuse to learn foreign languages and refuse to cook a meal in foreign style. Hence all the world studies French, and, in Paris must eat French dishes and use French goods; and French industries, being encouraged by French people and forced upon all who visit France, have no need to hide their lights under foreign bushels, and come out and vie with each other for perfection. Paris is cosmopolitan in only one respect, and that is in its population: but in taste and habit, speech, food, diet, and dress, it is intensely French. In this great city, supported almost entirely by foreigners, one cannot find an American, English, German, Italian, or Spanish restaurant, notwithstanding the names Cafe Americain, Cafe Anglais, etc. It is this protection of French industries, protected by French pride that improves and maintains them and makes them fashionable. The French Government bestows the decoration of the Legion of Honor upon the Americans, assuming that it will be considered a great honor; and now it has become fashionable to scramble for such marks of approval.

When the United States assumes the position, even modestly, that France insists upon, Americans will be proud of American distinctions and of American industries. Now we have nothing that we think is good until it bears a foreign label, or has first been approved in Europe, and especially France, where they know enough not to approve much that is likely to become a rival to anything that the French produce.

How many American ladies are there who realize that they are really the greatest allies of the foreign trade against our own working people? To day the trouble with French manufacturers of silk is that American silks are being made so fine that they deceive the jobbers themselves, and are sold under French marks. The American women buy American silks under French marks, and the men buy native wines under foreign labels. A manufacturing house in New England declined to exhibit silks at the Exposition, because its products were only sold through one agency, and were only known on the market as French goods. The pride and proper emulation of out workmen are crushed by lack of truer patriotism and common sense among consumers of their produce.

It seems that no French manufacturer would think of borrowing a foreign stamp or mark because it would subject him to unpleasant criticism at home. And yet now that we stop to think of it how common it has been in America to borrow foreign marks. Almost all our cutlery made in New England, such as jack-knives, table knives, razors, &c., have for many years been marked "Sheffield—Rogers & Co." Boots made in Lynn, Mass., have been sold under French labels. Watches manufactured in New Jersey were marked "Geneva,, "Berne" &c., and even now our largest silk manufacturers and fine cotton and ginghams, and light print manufacturers print on French labels. The tailor will show you imported cloths made in Rhode Island, and ladies pay fabulous prices for trousseaus ordered direct from Paris, and made in New York. How un-American and unpatriotic we have been behaving in these matters, is made plain by a further extract from Mr. Wetmore:

It is time our people should comprehend the fact that to-day there is only one nation in the world greatly feared by the commercial powers, and that is the United States. It requires a view of the country from this side of the ocean to realize the true situation and to inspire the American with a perfect faith that in a few years our people will become the richest and most prosperous that has ever existed. The wall of protection which has been erected around our American industries is now like the dam of a mighty river full and running over. The commerce of the world, that has heretofore fattened on our trade, is now trembling before the coming flood. These proposed commercial treaties are only insidious and undisguised efforts to undermine the dam and dissipate the collected force behind it.

While our people are talking about "hard times," the transition from the import to the export trade is taking place, money is pouring into our land from all countries, securities are coming back—being paid for by the excess of our own products of labor—and our nation is beginning to reap the harvest to which freedom, generosity to the poor of all the world, and intelligent protection of our workingmen entitle us. Without such prosperity and such commerce, we could never pay our railroad, State and national debts. The present "crisis" is the real triumph of the American workingman, which temporarily distresses him by reason of the demoralization of trade centers, just as California trade was demoralized for a while by the completion of the Pacific railroads. The nation must simply be firm and see that the people are repaid for the sacrifice they have made in building a nation out of the wilderness.

* * * A few weeks ago, one of the leading bankers in Paris, connected with American finances, called upon one of our intelligent citizens, and said, "I want to have a talk with you about the United States. In our position, bankers can feel, more than all others, the extraordinary movement of money which is taking place in favor of the United States. We all feel that, in a few prosperous countries in the world, the changes taking place are startling to those who have an opportunity to know them best"

Many years ago the London Times said of us, "they are whipping Mexico with one hand and feeding starving Europe with the other." During the late civil war, a leading English statesman, in Parliament was ridiculing a prospition to send a regiment to Canada to guard her frontiers, and cried, "What! do you expect to awe with 1,500 troops, a nation which has on hand a war of its own, with more than a million men in the field? What is true of the colossal power of this nation is true of our commerce and manufactures. Our surplus cereals reach several nations of Europe, and we build ironclads for Russia, and sell arms to Turkey. Our beeves, our muttons, and our pork goes to England. Our watches, our locomotives, and a great variety of our manufactures obtain a market all over the world. Our situation is reversed. From being a buyer, so heavy that it was difficult to keep up our balances, we are now selling to the rest of the world more than we buy.

SOUTHERN LUMBER AND TRADE.

A reporter of the N. Y. Herald called on Mr. W. K. Thurber of the firm of Thurber & Co., grocers, to inquire the prospects of the fall trade. Mr. Thurber said;

"The rush of the Southern trade is about over, 75 per cent of the southern visitors have returned to their homes, but a large number of them are here still. You know that as soon as cotton picking begins in the South Southern merchants go home. A great deal of the success of the cotton season depends upon a pleasant fall, and thus far picking has been going on with favorable weather. Reports from all quarters of the cotton section guarrantee good crops, and all they need is a good opportunity for gathering them. The cotton picking season begins about the 1st of September."

Just then a gentleman named Brigham, President of the Planters National Bank of Savannah came in. He said;

"The receipts of cotton crops, begin in the middle of August. They are small at that time and reach a maximum about the 1st of October. At Savannah I hear they received 4,000 bales yesterday, which is a very good day for this period of the season. Good weather means good receipts, and the receipts continue in good weather until frost comes along in January or February. Cotton keeps making until the frost comes—of course in a smaller quantity as the season grows late."

Mr. Thurber remarked that prices were going up in lumber To which the Georgia Banker replied:

"Well, our pine lumber is not going up, there is too much of it. It is being cut too fast. The timber in Georgia has been stripped from the vicinity of streams when there was sufficient water to float off the logs, without regard to an inevitable time of reckoning. Lumbermen are not making a sufficient profit either. There is an enormous waste of timber, and if the work continues for ten years from now it will be almost impossible to get a mast piece from the Georgia forests ninety feet long."

"I know a firm in Pensacola," said Mr. Thurber, "whom I knew to be making money, one of them furnishing the capital, the other superintending the work of shipping timber to England. They couldn't quite agree upon the proper distribution of profits and asked me to arbitrate the case. My astonishment was great to find that they were making from $11,000 to $17,000 a year."

"Without much capital, either, I suppose?" said Mr Brigham.

"Well, the elder member of the firm had 20,000 invested. All these, things," Mr. Thurber continued, "together with the wheat and corn crops of the west, are making us rich. I was asking an Ohio man what he was getting for wheat. A dollar,' said he and I suppose the farmers are selling? Yes and they are doing first rate. The results of observation is the same everywhere. Dealers in cotton, rubber, wool, corn, wheat lumber, rice, and so on are all making money like smoke. I suppose," he said, addressing Mr. Brigham, "that some of the cotton mills were pinched by their recent heavy purchases?"

"That depends," answered the banker, "entirely on the future. Supply and demand have little to do with it The price of cotton is in the power of speculators to do with it almost as they please."

THE PENDER COUNTY MURDER AGAIN.

We again refer to the outrageous murder in Pender county. We do not desire to do any one injustice, and will not if we can possibly help it, but the dead man, Bell, who was murdered by Buck Walker has no friends to prosecute his murderer, therefore the public has to look after it more closely than if he had been a man of means and friends:

While the following letter was not intended for publication, we put it in to do justice to all concerned:

BURGAW, N. C., Sept. 24, 1879.

Hon. W. P. Canaday:

Dear Sir:—I would respectfully call your attention to an editorial in the Wilminton Post of the 21st inst., in which you not only do yourself an injury, but the people of Pender county a great injustice. I believe that you have been misinformed, or you would never have allowed such an article published in your paper. I might go on further, and give you the particulars but I deem it unnecessary. Suffice it to say, that every witness present at the fight were present at the trial with the exception of one, who is now a fugitive from justice. Hoping for modification of the matter in your next number, I am sir,

Very truly yours,

* * * W. B. COWAN.

Mr. Cowan is the man who brought Walker in; and we believe that Mr. Cowan and Mr. Walker are cousins.—Mr. Cowan left, so we learn, on the very first train, after the farce before the Magistrate, Bloodworth, for Raleigh, where he collected the reward of $200. We will speak of this matter again. Let full justice be done to all; not only to Republicans, but Democrats as well; not only to negroes, but white men as well. We demand as a public journalist that the murderer, Walker, shall have a fair trial, and if he is guilty, we demand in the name of the law, and in behalf of four millions of colored people in the south, that he be justly punished.

The leading article in the North American Review for October is by Francis Parkman, and is entitled "The Woman Question." It discusses the proposed extension of suffrage to women, and takes strong conservative ground. All the principal arguments against giving women the right to vote, are brought together and exhaustively treated. The second paper is a lucid and forcible exposition of the Philosophy of Comte, by his leading English disciple, Frederic Harrison. Its title is "Science and Humanity." No one who reads it can fail to get a clear view of the main doctrines of the religion which Positivism proposes. The third article, "Louis Napoleon and the Southern Confederacy," by Owen F. Aldis, is a statement made from the Confederate archives of the relations that existed between the French emperor and the Southern States during the War of the Rebellion. It adds an interesting and valuable chapter to the diplomatic history of the time. "The Railway Problem," by Robert Garrett, is a timely article upon the methods of operating our vast railway system which are just at present the object of so much criticism. The most interesting portion of the paper relates to the work of the railway commissioners in England and the difficulties of introducing a corresponding oversight and regulation in this country. The third part of "The Diary of a Public Man" is of equal interest with the portions which have already been published. The extracts now given relate to Sumner's opposition to Cameron, the curious telegram sent to Jefferson Davis concerning the tone which President Lincoln's inaugural address was to have, and many incidents of the Inauguration Day and the week preceding. The sixth article, by Prof. E. L. Youmans, and entitled "Spencer's Evolution Philosophy," contains a statement in detail of the various works which Mr. Spencer has published during the past twenty years, showing the growth of his philosophical system, and by comparisons of dates, establishing that he was not indebted to Mr. Darwin for the groundwork of his philosophy as has been by some supposed. The paper gives an excellent summary of the main features of the theory of Evolution. The number closes with "Recent History and Biography," a review of five books relating to American History, by A. K. Fiske.

Mr. Frederic Douglass, United States Marshal for the District of Columbia, was asked his opinion of General Grant's declination of the nomination for President in 1880, to which the Marshal replied that he was sure that the General was sincere in his statement to the Chinese Viceroy. He did not believe General Grant was manœuvring for the nomination by his speech to the Viceroy, although such schemes have been resorted to by politicians to bring them prominently before the public. He did not think the statement made would affect the action of the General's friends, as they will proceed in their course until they hear further from him. He thinks the General has really no desire to occupy the Presidential chair again, and his declination is made in the same light as that of his letter of 1875. General Grant continued Mr. Douglass, never refuses to do his duty when called upon. He is a straightforward, honorable man, and if his country needs his services he will give them willingly. In the event of General Grant retiring from the race Sherman is the next best man. The secretary stands well with the stalwarts, and all classes of Republicans will more heartily unite on him than on any other man this side of Grant.

UDO PHO WOLFE, Esq. Present:

Dear Sir—I have made a chemical examination of a sample of your Schiedam Schnapps, with the intent of determining any foreign or injurious substance had been added to the simple distilled spirits.

The examination has resulted in the conclusion that the sample contained no poisonous or harmful admixture. I have been unable to discover any trace of the deleterious substances which are employed in the adulteration of liquors. I would not hesitate to use myself, or recommend to others, for medicinal purposes, the Schiedam Schnapps as an excellent and unobjectionable variety of Gin.

Very respectfully yours,

THE WILMINGTON POST.
WILMINGTON, N. C.
SUNDAY MORNING, SEPT. 28, 1879.

A Republican from Brunswick Speaks

Is an independent party in North Carolina to be erected by virtue of the assassination of the Republican party, by a few men who owe all of their official greatness—such as it is—to the Republican party?

Several years ago the whole state was more or less agitated over what appeared to be a strange and unaccountable phenomenon in the mountains of North Carolina. Old Baldy sent forth mysterious and ominous sounds, which so terrified the good people of that section that the weak-kneed, of no faith for the future, and speculators fled precipitately, from what appeared to them to be an impending fate. The stalwarts, however, called upon all to remain, as there was no danger; only have faith and all would yet be well. At last when nature's independent trick had expended itself and peace once more smiled on the faithful ones, to the sorrow of the conscience stricken refugees for their cowardice and want of faith.

But a few days ago, in feeble imitation of Old Baldy, there issued from that section grave and ominous sounds as to the future of the old state. Feeble though they were, it has occasioned a few, whose principles are carried in their pockets rather than in their hearts, to tremble with fear, and cast around them for some secure means to avert the doom as to themselves, and preserve their sinecures. No true Republican need fear at this second independent trick of nature, it will hurt itself the same as Old Baldy. Stand firm and true to your Republican principles, and have faith. If disappointed ambition seeks to lead you astray from the true principles, it matters not what its representatives may have been in the past, know it not.

For the Post.

Lecture by Messrs. Dancy and Price.

Jno. C. Dancy, Esq., of Edgecombe, and Rev. J. C. Price, of Craven, lectured to quite a large and appreciative audience at St. Luke's A. M. E. Zion Church of this city on Tuesday evening, 16th inst. Mr. Dancy's lecture was a description of interesting scenes and incidents of his travels through Europe, in which he held his audience spellbound for one hour, as with his descriptive powers which he possesses to an ordinary degree, he pictured to their imagination the grand cities, ancient structures, venerable cathedrals, antique monuments, large churches, distinguished persons, and historic scenes, which came under his personal observations in his visit to Ireland, England, London, Liverpool, Bermingham, Chester and Scotland—the great giant causway, Stratford on Avon, the former home of Shakspeare, and many places, persons and things of historic renown. Mr. D. is a fluent speaker, has great command of language which he uses with such ease and clearness that every word is distinctly heard by his audience. Mr. Dancy concluded his lecture by an earnest effort in behalf of the great temperance cause, giving a brief history of its operations both in this country and in Europe. Mr. D. spoke without manuscript.

At the conclusion of Mr. Dancy's lecture Rev. J. C. Price was introduced to the audience:

The subject of Mr. Price's lecture is "One Hour With The People," which was an able and masterly effort in which he shows the necessity of training the mind, and the advantages derived from intellectual culture. He clearly pictured in the most emphatic manner the evils of intemperance and the necessity of society as well as the leading minds of the country, and especially of the church, taking a strong, firm and determined stand in the great temperance cause. The concluding feature of Mr. Price's lecture was a grand argumentative portraiture of the future of the negro as viewed from the standpoint of the present, contrasted with the past. Rev. J. C. Price is quite a young man, is a natural orator, a forcible speaker and possesses to an eminent degree those qualifications which enable one to chain the minds of his audience as with a penetrative power he presents his argument. He seldom refers to his manuscript, hence his lecture has all the apparent advantages of an extemporaneous argument. The lectures of these two young gentlemen have been largely attended by all classes of our citizens and are spoken of in the highest terms by all who have heard them. They lectured three times while in our city, and the unanimous verdict of all who have heard them is that it is a rich intellectual, and highly instructive entertainment.

General Ewing, of Ohio, says "times are very hard." We do not wonder that Ewing thinks so. A man who stands by a high fence and tries to lift himself over by the straps of his boots always sweats. If General Ewing will climb the fence and get over on the other side, and listen to the music of hammer and forge, and hear the farmer whistle as he views his well filled bins, and note the smile of contentment which has replaced that of distrust and complaint, he will at once see his folly. Times are hard to a man who is trying to make people believe they are miserable when everything speaks to them of prosperity.—Inter Ocean.

Useful Invention.

Our young townsman, Mr. John D. Howard, has just returned from Washington City, where he has been spending several days in examining the many different self-coupling for cars (over three hundered in number) with the view to patenting one which he has for months been working upon, and he has succeeded in filing his caveat for the improved coupler now known.

He was assisted and encouraged while at the Patent Office by Senators Z. B. Vance, R. B. Vance and Matt. Ransom.

The coupler is a success mechanically and does credit to the excellent brain of our young townsman. It is composed of four principles. The buffer consists of a trap door connected by a rod fastened to an upright, movable post, it is coupled by a draw bar extending into the moutn of the buffer, over which the trap door falls, it is uncoupled by an inclined plane passing through the side of the buffer, connected with a lever on the side of the bar. The advantages which Mr. Howard claims for his coupler over all others are, first

The simplicity of its construction, there being no intricate or costly mechanism to get out of order.

Second. That his coupler can be attached to any car now made.

Third. That cars can be uncoupled with more ease and safety, never requiring a man to go between the cars.

Fourth. That in case of an accident, where the cars run off the track, they will uncouple themselves, thereby lessening the dangers to life and property.

The pattern of this most useful invention, which was neatly made by one of our skilled mechanics, Mr. Clifford Willis, is now in the hands of the inventor and he will take pleasure in showing it to his friends.

We learn Mr. Howard was informed at the Patent Office that he is the youngest man that has ever applied for a pateat.

The Chicago Tribune arraigns the state of Mississippi under the following succinct but forcible indictment:

Having deprived the negro of all the civil rights guarranteed him by the Constitutional amendments; having taken away his vote and barred him from obtaining justice in the courts; having robbed him in his labor contracts and reduced him to a state of abject submission by the liberal use of the shotgun—the state of Mississippi has still further progressed in its infamous work by the passage of an act, ostensibly to reduce the judiciary expenses, which provides for the sale of petty criminals, and establishes a contract system which restores the worst evils of slavery. Under this act it is provided that all persons convicted and committed to jail except those sentenced to the Penitentiary, all persons who are committed to jail to await trial, and all who are convicted of a misdemeanor, by any court or justice of the peace, shall be delivered to a contractor (provided for in the first section) and worked under the provisions of the law; and that when "no one will contract for the prisoners in any county, the Board of Supervisors of such county may contract for the work of their prisoners with the contractor of any adjoining county, according to the provisions of this act, for contracts for prisoners within the county."

"SEMINAL PASTILLE"

Trade Mark.

SHAPE & SIZE OF A SEMINAL PASTILLE

A Valuable Discovery and New Departure in Medical Science, an entirely new and positively effective Remedy for the speedy and permanent Cure of Seminal Emissions & Impotency by the only true way, viz: Direct Application to the principal seat of the Disease, acting by Absorption, and exerting its specific influence on the Seminal Vesicles Ejaculatory Ducts, Prostrate Gland and Urethra. The use of the Remedy is attended with no pain or inconvenience, it is quickly dissolved and soon absorbed, producing an immediate soothing and restorative effect upon the sexual and nervous organizations wrecked from self-abuse and excesses, stopping the drain from the system, restoring the mind to health and sound memory, removing the Dimness of Sight, Nervous Debility, Confusion of Ideas, Aversion to Society, Etc. Etc. and the appearance of premature old age usually accompanying this trouble, and restoring perfect Sexual Vigor, where it has been dormant for years. This mode of treatment has stood the test in very severe cases, and is now a pronounced success. Drugs are too much prescribed in these troubles, and, as many can bear witness to, with but little if any permanent good. There is no Nonsense about this Preparation. Practical observation enables us to positively guarantee that it will give satisfaction.——During the eight years that it has been in general use, we have thousands of testimonials as to its value, and it is now conceded by the Medical Profession to be the most rational means yet discovered of reaching and curing this very prevalent trouble, that is well known to be the cause of untold misery to so many, and upon whom quacks prey with their useless nostrums and big fees. The Remedy is put up in a neat box, enough to last a month, and sent in a plain wrapper by mail sealed for $3—two boxes, (sufficient to effect a permanent cure unless in severe cases) $5.——Three boxes lasting three full months will stop emissions, and restore vigor, in the worst cases $7.—Full DIRECTIONS for using will accompany EACH BOX.

(Send for a Descriptive Pamphlet giving Anatomical Illustrations, which will convince the most sceptical that they can be restored to perfect manhood, and fitted for the duties of life, same as if never affected. Sent Sealed for stamp to any one. Sold ONLY by the)

LIFE IN A BOTTLE.

The Most Valuable Medical Discovery Known to the World—No More Use For Quinine, Calomel or Mineral Poisons—Life for the Blood, Strength For the Nerves, and Health for All.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC.

Believing that by cleansing the blood and building up the constitution was the only true way of banishing disease and being troubled with weakness of the lungs, catarrh, very much broken down in constitution, &c., and after trying the best physicians and paying out my money for many kinds of medicines advertised without finding a permanent cure, I began doctoring myself, using medicines made from roots and herbs. I fortunately discovered a wonderful Bitters or Blood Cleanser, the first bottle of which gave me new life and vigor, and in time effected a permanent cure. I was free from catarrh, my lungs became strong and sound, being able to stand the most severe cold and exposure, and I have gained over thirty pounds in weight. Feeling confident that I had made a wonderful discovery in medicine, I prepared a quantity of the Root Bitters, and was in the habit of giving them away to sick friends and neighbors. I found the medicine effected the most wonderful cures of all diseases caused from humors or scrofula in the blood, Imprudence, Bad Stomach, Weakness, Kidney Disease, Torpid Liver, &c., &c. The news of my discovery in this way spread from one person to another until I found myself called upon to supply patients with medicine far and wide and I was induced to establish a laboratory for compounding and bottling the Root Bitters in large quantities, and I now devote all my time to this business.

I was at first backward in presenting either myself or discovery in this way to the public, not being a patent medicine man and with small capital, but I am getting bravely over that. Since I first advertised this medicine I have been crowded with orders from druggists and country dealers, and the hundreds of letters I have received from persons cured, prove the fact that no remedy ever did so much good in so short a time and had so much success as the Root Bitters. In fact, I am convinced that they will soon take the lead of all other medicines in use. Nearly one hundred retail druggists, right here at home in Cleveland, now sell Root Bitters, some of whom have already sold over one thousand bottles.

Root Bitters are strictly a medicinal preparation, such as was used in the good old days of our forefathers, when people were cured by some simple root or plant, and when calomel and other poisons of the mineral kingdom were unknown.

They act strongly on the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels regular and build up the nervous saystem. They penetrate every part of the body, searching out every nerve, bone and tissue from the head to the feet cleansing and strengthening the foutain springs of life, hence they must reach all diseases by purification and nourishment.

No matter what your feelings or symptoms are, what the disease or ailments is, use Root Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick, but if you only feel bad or miserable, use the Bitters at once. It may save your life.

Thousands of persons in all parts of the country are already using ROOT BITTERS. They have saved many lives of consumptives who had been given up by friends and physicians to die, and have permanently cured many old chronic cases of Catarrh Scrofula, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, and skin Diseases, where all other treatments had failed. Are you troubled with sick headache, costiveness, dizziness, weakness, bad taste in the mouth, nervousness, and broken down down in constitution? You will be cured if you take ROOT BITTERS. Have you humors and pimples on your face or skin? Nothing will give you such good health, strength, and beauty as ROOT BITTERS.

☞ I know that jealous physicians will cry humbug because my discovery cures so many of their patients, but I care not. It is now my desire and determination to place my ROOT BITTERS as fast as possible within the reach of all those suffering throughout the world. Sold by wholesale and retail druggists and country merchants, or sent by express on receipt of price, $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles $5.00. For certificates of wonderful cures, see my large circular around each bottle of medicine. Read and judge for yourself.

☞ Ask your druggist or merchant for FRAZIER'S ROOT BITTERS, the great Blood Cleanser, and take no substitute he may recommend because he makes a larger profit.

THE WILMINGTON POST.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, SEPT. 28, 1879.

It is said that Lord Beaconsfield contemplates going over to Boston to take a hunt for buffaloes, and that he will take along a large quantity of trinkets as presents to the red barbarians.

Miss Fanny G. Dawson, daughter of Mr. James Dawson of this city, was married on Wednesday last to Mr. Chas. E. Greenough of New York, at the Windsor Hotel, in New York City.

Jos. C. Hill, Esq., has a picture in his office, painted by himself, for the Raleigh Industrial Fair. It represents a wrecked ship at Hatteras, N. C., also a large, full rigged ship sailing toward the distressed seamen. It is very excellently and handsomely gotten up.

Mr. Jos. H. Neff and wife returned from a visit north a few days ago. Mr Neff informs us that the "cry of hard times have departed, and everybody, now, north seems prosperous. The signs of prosperity can be seen wherever you go, and the people seem perfectly contented and happy." What a difference between the two sections.

Gen. Robert B. Elliott, of South Carolina, was in our city on Monday last. He was on his way to Washington, where he was going on legal business. General Elliott speaks encouragingly of the Republican prospects in South Carolina, provided the voters can be protected in their franchise, and the Republican administration will stop appointing Democrats to office.

Mr. R. E. Heide is making quite large improvements to his residence, on Third between Ann and Nun streets. We congratulate Mr. Heide on his prosperity, he is one of Wilmington's most enterprising citizens and deserves success; he works hard and economizes in every way possible in his large business, and he has been blessed indeed, as such honest labor will always be.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure for Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh Asthma, and all throat and lung, affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge to all who desire it this recipe, in German, French, or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y. sept. 28—13t.

Brunswick.

The County Commissioners have at last through the persistent efforts of F. M. Williams, Esq arroused themselves and partially shaken off that old Rip Van Winkle slumber into which they have fallen so far at least, as county property was concerned and have passed a determination to repair the Court House and Jail. The tax payers who feel any pride, in their county will no doubt rejoice, to see this evidence of improvement. The dilapidated appearance of the Court House has been a standing rebuke, to the intelligence of the people of the county for years and was the cause of many a remark from strangers that would not be deemed very complimentary to the progressive spirit by the people. Go ahead, the people will back you.

A large number of Barrels of K. oil have been picked up at sea, by different boats. It is supposed that the oil was either thrown over board or washed off from some vessel going South. Light is cheap now, at Smithville.

In our last issue we made an error in respect to the amount of fees paid for attorneys in Brunswick, it should read $3.50, instead of $5.50, and for Commissioners $3.20, instead of $2.20.

Mr. D. Wilmot Scott, a resident of Galena, Ill., the home of Gen. Grant, says that the latter, before the war, was considered "only an ordinary man" by his neighbors. "I knew him," says Mr. Scott, "intimately as a neighbor, and he had a good deal of reputation as a chess player. Aside from this, I can't say that anybody knew much of him. He was always anxious for a turn at his favorite game; and, when he could find a suitable antagonist, he was very glad to play. I never knew of his being beaten. He seemed to comprehend the end from the beginning, and when the proper time would come, he was always able to sweep the board. The first game with a stranger he usually let take its own course—at any rate until near the close. He would permit his men to be reduced to a small number, then all at once he would rally his forces, and with the utmost ease obtain a victory. From the end of the first game he knew all about his antagonist, and handled him easily."

Tilden made the Hancock movement impossible when he captured the Pennsylvania Democracy. His hold is so firm there that Hancock hasn't a sign of a following, and no man can be nominated whom his own state does not support.

Two Men—Two Civilizations.

"A many years ago" two young men, John and James, Boston boys both, were fellow clerks on Kilby street. John went to Chicago in its muddy days, prospered, married, raised a family and ere his hair was gray became a well to do, substantial citizen, open-handed and open-hearted. James remained at home. He too prospered, married, raised a family and became one of the "solid men of Boston." Now it fell out that when John's eldest son—they called him Jack—was twenty-one, he visited Boston, bearing a letter to his father's old friend, whom he found in a dingy Pearl street counting-room, deep in the Advertiser. Jack presented the letter, and stood, hat in hand, while the old gentleman read it twice. "So you'er John's son?" he said. "You don't look a bit like your father." Then there was a pause, Jack still standing. "What brought you to Boston?" he was asked. "Well, sir," said Jack, "father thought I had better see his old home and get a taste of salt air." "Going to be here over Sunday?" "Yes, sir." "My pew is No.—at Trinity. Hope to see you there. Glad to have met you." And there the interview ended. Now it chanced that not long after James' son, roving through the west, reached Chicago. He remembered his father's friend by name, and hunted him up in his office. "Well my son?" said a pleasant voice, before he had closed the door. "My name is James——, sir, and I thought" ——" What! you don't mean to say that—— Of course you are. I might have it. Wher's your baggage?" "At the hotel, sir." "At the hotel? We'll go and get it and take it right up to the house," answered the genial old gentleman, closing his desk with a vigorous slam. "We'll go right up now. Ther's plenty of time for a drive this afternoon. This evening you can go to the theatre with my girls, and tomorrow you and I will take a run out on the C., B, and Q and have a look at the country. Then I want to take you to the stock yards and have a trip on the lake, and"——"But, sir," broke in the overwhelmed young man, "I must go home to morrow." "Tut, tut, my boy, don't talk that way. You can't begin to see this city under a week and you'er going to stay that long anyhow," And he did. In fact, he's there now.—Boston Transcript.

It is said that at the dedication of the Soldiers' Monument at Manchester, N. H., last week, a veteran passed, wearing a peculiar gold medal that attracted attention. The veteran explained: "It's of no great value, but I am one of only two men who are entitled to wear it in America." This excited the curiosity of Thomas Gay, a bystander, who said to him, "Who are you?" to which the veteran replied: "I'm Bill Smith, and helped to blow up the rebel ram Albemarle." Gay extended his hand to his only surviving comrade in the successful expedition against the Albemarle, whom he had not seen for fifteen years. Gay and Smith are two of three men to whom Congress voted a special gold medal for services in destroying the Albemarle, and both are residents of New Hampshire. The third man who received a medal is dead.

Blanton Duncan of Kentucky, who on invitation, took the stump for the Greenbackers in Maine, and in the midst of the campaign was invited to withdraw because his denunciations of the frauds, outrages, and assassinations in the South were displeasing to the Democrats, has found that his "time to laugh" has come, and has written ex-Secretary of the Executive State Committee, in which he cruelly asks: How do you feel now? All your plans smashed? When you telegraphed to Rockland to break up my meeting and that 'he injures us very bad,' you could not forsee the future. You broke up my meeting in Augusta. Did you and Pillsburry gain by suppressing truth?"

Mr. Robert Collyer's last sermon in his Chicago church on Sunday was heard in silence and tears by his congregation. "You have never held me," he said "as one set above you who could not laugh enjoy sport and a wholesome play; a man who might stay to supper, but sure to go out before the dance began, or who must eat only lentils cresses, like the old anchorites, and never tell a story not based on holy writ. None of these things; for it has been my pride to be one with you, to the peril, perhaps, of ministerial dignity. I don't care a cent for that; I have always thought that the nearer a minister acts to his people the better, and I say, with the humility that the record of our church during all these years has justified just this view."

A French paper contributes a gem to military anecdotes:

The surgeon had prescribed a bath for a soldier who was a little ailing, and ordered that he be conducted to an adjoining establishment by a sergeant. At the end of an hour's waiting at the bath room door, the sergeant, hearing no noise entered the room and found the soldier seated by the side of the bath tub. The water was as it was when the soldier went into the room except that its level had been perceptibly lowered. "Ma foi, sergeant," said the soldier, "you may put me in the guardhouse if you want to, but I can't drink another drop!"

The celebration of the semi centennial of the establishment of the public schools of this city, which was postponed on Monday on account of the rain, took place to-day at Druid Hill Park. The first public school in Baltimore was opened on Sept. 21, 1829 with about 100 pupils. The first year ended with only two schools in operation, with four teachers. In 1834 eight schools—four male and four female—were in operation, with 520 pupils, the expenses amounting to $13,213. To-day there are 137 schools and 35,000 scholars, the cost of which last year was $677,976.

A man dying recently in St. Louis left $1,000 to an individual who, years before ran away with his wife. He said in the will that he never forgot a favor

The Treasury is also in receipe of an unusal demand for the 4-cent bronze pieces as well as for small notes. Minor coinage can only be executed at the Philadelphia Mint, and that Mint is now obliged to devote most of its time to the standard silver dollar. For this reason it is found impossible to supply the demand for the 1-cent pieces. As soon as possible the Mint will coin a sufficient amount of them to fill all orders. There is now no more of this coinage in the Treasury than is required for current business.

SURE CURE FOR PILES.

A sure cure for the blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr. William (an Indian remedy), called Dr. William's Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst old chronic cases of twenty-five and thirty years' standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electricities do more harm than good. William's Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching (particularly at night after getting warm in bed), acts as a poultice, gives instant and painless, relief and is prepared only for Piles, itching of the private parts and nothing else.

"I consulted physicians in Philadelphia, Louisville, Cincinnati Indianapolis and thiscity, and spent hundreds of dollars, and found no relief until I obtained a box of Dr. William's Indian Ointment some four months ago, and it has cured me completely."

JOSEPH M. RYDER, Cleaveland, O.

"Has done me more good than all the medicine I ever tried, and I have spent more than $100 with doctors, besides medicines I am sure cost me more than $80."

DAVID SPARLING, Ingraham, Ill.

"Have suffered twenty years with itching and ulcerated piles, having used every remedy that came to my notice without benefit, until I used Indian Ointment and received immediate relief.

JAMES CARROLL, (an old miner), Tecoma, Nevada.

No Pile Remedy ever gained such rapid favor and extensive sale. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists. For sale by T. S. BURBANK.
